“Goodwill Day Message” (Master Parvathi Kumar's Birthday)

07 Nov, 2013

- Master K.Parvathi Kumar

Hearty fraternal greetings to all of you who have gathered here to celebrate my 69th birthday. I do not wish to celebrate this occasion but I cannot say no as many of you have requested me and you have made grand arrangements for this function out of your love and affection.

I do not wish to give message now as it is already late for dinner. Many of you have already spoken out of your love for me. If I talk long for now as it amounts to hurting you all. So I will complete my message in 15 minutes.

Being born in the month of Scorpio, I like spending much of the time alone in solitude but the Lord always tries to keep away from that which I like by relating me to a very large group of people. I just think 'let it be so if it is the divine will'.

From childhood, I believed that the divine will is my will and lived accordingly. As much as possible, I did not develop any personal liking and ambition. What we should we do on a birthday? We should keep introspecting thoughts and actions, what is the purpose of my life? What should I do? Is there any better that I can do? What more should I learn? And there should be a self critic within each one of us. It is like the Devil's advocate. The self critic in me always takes the lead and keeps instruction me and I follow him.

What I observed in my life is that there is director behind the screen and many actors act on the screen according to his direction. We feel that it is the greatness of the actor but it background director who is real cause. Similarly there is one who sings in the background and on the screen it appears that the actor himself is singing but in reality he is not. The actor should remember that background director who is responsible for everything he does. If he thinks, it is all his greatness, it results in his downfall. Hence, we should pay our respects to the background ONE constantly. This is the realization I had from my childhood itself. It is due to the blessings of my parents. I am also very lucky to have got in touch with the Hierarchy of Grand Masters. So whenever people praise me for my work, I remember the background cause.

There are ones who know better than me and they keep leading me in the path. Many think that I am very intelligence but the fact is I never tried to use my intelligence. It is only the divine intelligence that works through me. This is possible when one submits oneself to divine. I never even have a will of my own. I just performed every activity as and when it came to me. I did not initiate any activity. The creation itself began as the divine will and everything in this creation runs as per the divine will. I always recollect this truth and everything just happened through me.

We think that we do everything but there is always a background flow that moves each one of us. He who knows this is the real knower. We generally fail to recognize its presence. It is the grand truth but we forget it. Everything that happens in this creation is HIS play.

Due to some good deeds that I may have done in my past lives, I got into this divine association. Once you have devotion, liking towards the Lord, values and virtues accumulate around you and you will not be pained by anything that happens because you see everything as him and his play. That is why liking the Lord is more important than having belief in him. Now during the cake cutting, my grandson first took the knife and he cut the cake along with me. If the same thing was done by some stranger, would you not react? Why is it not so now? Because here there is liking towards the grandson and anything done by him is acceptable. It is not only acceptable, it also gives you happiness. Similarly it should be with the Lord.

The life is never a like walking on flowers. There will be ups and downs and each one of us has to face problems. But when you are with HIM, everything happens splendoursly and it is all his splendour. Everything grand activity that happens in this creation should be seen as the splendour of the lord.

We should be always grateful to the ONE who remains in the background and does everything for us. There are many devas working in this creation and even in each one of us and there is ONE Divine principle which synthesis all of them. When we remain in recollection and alignment of divine, all the devas are pleased with us.

By the time I met Master EK, I was strongly of the belief that the divine is present in all and working through all. When I observed Master EK, I felt that he had a similar line of thought and asked him "Master! The Lord is present in all. Right?" He said "Yes!" Then I asked "Our work is to keep relating to divine by serving the people around as, as much as well can. Right?" He said "Yes!". Then I asked "What about knowledge?" He said "It will come to know as and when required." Why to have unnecessary knowledge. It is just a burden.

Remember that knowledge will not lead you to expansion but belief in the Lord will lead you to expansion and uplift you. Even our awareness is his. It comes to us every morning when we wake up.

We are born every day when we wake up. He wakes us up from inside. We work with his awareness as the basis. So think that everything is done by I AM is ignorance.

It is imperative that each being in this creation has to realize that everything in this creation happens as the play of the Lord, in the path of evolution and you are lucky if you have realized it and move forward in the path with that realization as the basis. Do not worry that others around you have not realized this truth. Remember that the one who is responsible for this realization to happen in you, will also make others realize the same.

So let us all be grateful to the ONE who runs everything and who is present in each one of us and as each one of us. We feel that we exist but in reality we do not. It is HIM who exists as each one of us and animates us and keeps observing how each one of us behave from within us. So remember that all this is the play of the Lord and he is the ONE who stands above each one of us. It is the most engaging engagement.

I conclude with this and I am thankful and grateful to each of you for your love. I will keep working in the same manner as I have been working all these years. I am also grateful to all those who have been working together with me all these years. I cannot do all this by myself. Generally someone is nominated to lead the team and I such a one but for all these activities to happen, the whole team is responsible and I thank each member of the team. It is our tradition that both the Master and the disciple have to be grateful to each other mutually. Master displays that gratefulness towards his disciple in the form of his grace and blessings.

So let us all move forward together in the path under the ONE will which runs all of us and remember that it is the basis for each one of us to walk the path.
